The Justice Inside-Out Speaker + Film Series explores perspectives on crime and justice from both sides of prison walls. It builds on conversations and topics in the Boston College Inside-Out Program, which has brought together students from Boston College campus and the Suffolk County House of Correction for credit-bearing courses since Fall 2018.

This series is generously supported by The Hearst Foundations. It is sponsored by the Boston College Inside-Out Program, Lynch School of Education and Human Development, Sociology Department, Woods College of Advancing Studies, and the Faith, Peace and Justice Program. Contact Inside-Out Program Coordinator, Matt DelSesto (delsesma@bc.edu) for more information.
